

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR FACILITATING MEDIATED COMMUNICATION

Abstract of the Disclosure

A mediation system as disclosed herein is capable of performing a method for facilitating mediated communication. In at least one embodiment of the method for facilitating mediated communication, the method includes receiving an altered context component, determining a pending mediated commitment associated with the altered context component, and facilitating a mediated follow-through operation for altering the pending mediated commitment according to the altered context component, thereby producing an altered mediated commitment.